

This decision tree assumes examinees have at least minimal functional vision, and therefore isn't applicable to blind students who require screen reader software solutions (e.g., JAWS, WindowEyes).

Keep in mind that the best solution from a student's perspective is generally the one that they are most accustomed to.

